Re: United States v. George Guldi
19 Cr. 126 (AKH)

Dear Judge Hellerstein:

The defense writes to renew our request that the Court delay Mr. Guldi's surrender date to January 31, 2024, due to his scheduled medical appointments to treat a number of serious health conditions. Mr. Guldi is currently under the care of medical teams specializing in oncology, rheumatology, endocrinology, and orthopedics.¹ Mr. Guldi and his team of doctors are working on a treatment plan in preparation for Mr. Guldi's period of incarceration. Mr. Guldi has the following medical appointments scheduled through the end of January:

1. 12/15: Follow-up with primary care physician re: diabetes, sciatica, and prostate cancer;
2. 12/27: First of weekly physical therapy appointments;
3. 1/3: Podiatry appointment for diabetic foot care exam;
4. 1/8: Urology / oncology follow-up;
5. 1/11: Endocrinology appointment;
6. 1/16: Epidural spinal injection and CT scan;
7. 1/29: Rheumatology appointment.

¹ Further details about Mr. Guldi's medical history and prescribed medications are available in the Pre-Sentence Report and in the defense filing at ECF # 207.

An extension of the surrender date through the end of January will allow Mr. Guldi to meet with his specialists one final time before his incarceration and ensure that he enters the Bureau of Prisons with a comprehensive treatment plan for his ongoing medical needs. Accordingly, the defense respectfully requests the Court delay Mr. Guldi's surrender until January 31, 2024.

Respectfully submitted,
